Men's Club In Residential Zone Denied By Planning Commission

Parking required for a men's club in the residence zone was a prime factor in the Carmel Planning Commission's denial of a use permit for the Carmel Club yesterday afternoon. Ultimate membership of 50 men with approximately 30 members using the club at peak time—morning and middle of the day—for coffee breaks and luncheon which involves food preparation and service, would require parking that would adversely affect the general character of the residential neighborhood, commissioners decided. The proposed fraternal club use, in this location, would not be compatible with the zoning objectives of the district was another finding in the report recommending denial.

In addition, 20 individual Carmel citizens expressed disfavor in regard to the club being situated in "Spindrift," a house on the west side of Dolores Street north of Fifth Avenue. These same citizens expressed, "a desire for the need of such a club to exist and to be established in the commercial district." Only four citizens endorsed the two-lot location proposed for the club.

In respect to the parking, the commission report stated that, were the club granted a use per-

INTERNATIONAL BANKERS MEET AT DEL MONTE

Del Monte Lodge is host this week for international bankers participating in the annual monetary conference of the American Bankers Association. Discussions will cover domestic and foreign monetary problems. The chairman is Frederic A. Potts, chairman of the board of the Philadelphia National Bank.

Calm Before Storm

The picture above was taken by Peter McArthur who is the son of Doctor and Mrs. Rod McArthur of Carmel Valley. Peter, whose interest in photography started just over a year ago, is now attending Monterey Peninsula College where he is an art major.

He graduated from Carmel High School in 1965 and attended Arizona State College last year. Besides photography, his main interest lies in the field of sculpture and he has designed several interesting pieces of jewelry.

Peter's plans for the future are not definite as yet but, as things stand now, he will remain on the Peninsula and continue with photography, which, judging from the above picture will be a very rewarding endeavor for both himself and his viewers.

WEATHER

The storm is blowing itself out with a 60% probability of sunshine. Temperature highs near 72, lows near 45 .

Comedy-Melodrama Next Play At Studio

For its next production, the Studio Theatre-Restaurant goes back a quarter-century to revive the Joseph Kesselring comedy-melodrama "Arsenic and Old Lace" which opens March 25. It is scheduled also for early revival on Broadway where the original production ran 1,444 performances to take eighth place among all non-musicals in duration of stay.

Unlike "Catch Me If You Can" which completes its holdover run at the Studio this Friday and Saturday, "Arsenic and Old Lace" does not wait until the final curtain to reveal that Abby and Martha Brewster lace the elderberry wine with lethal doses of poison which they administer to a dozen elderly gentlemen. The discovery of their bizarre hobby causes their nephew, Mortimer, to shrink from marrying his fiancee, Elaine, for fear he has inherited the family taint.

The plot thickens with the arrival of Jonathan Brewster and his accomplice, Dr. Einstein, who are seeking to dispose of a murder victim of their own. Meanwhile Teddy Brewster, who suffers the hallucination that he is Teddy Roosevelt, wanders in and out of the action under the impression that his grave-digging chores in the cellar are excavations for the Panama Canal.

Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse produced "Arsenic and Old Lace" on Broadway with Josephine Hull as Abby, Jean Adair as Martha and Boris Karloff as Jonathan. The studio production is under the direction of Michael Keller with setting and lighting by Bob Evans Jr. It is scheduled to run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through the end of April.

Reservations for dinner and show or show only may be made by calling 624-1661 or 624-2321.

LINES FROM

THE STUDIO

We crowed too soon. Bless us if the weather didn't leave us with some empty seats last weekend. Now there's only two more chances for late-comers to catch "Catch Me If You Can" before that funny, funny "Arsenic And Old Lace" nudges it off our stage on Saturday, March 25. We expect to introduce a whole new generation to the gentle Brewster sisters who can't resist lacing their elderberry wine with poison. (Can anyone lend us a bugle?) By the way, we'll be closed Monday through Friday next week (except to take reservations) while we set the scene. Meanwhile you can still lunch with us this weekend through Sunday or come to see "Catch Me If You Can" Friday or Saturday night. Dinner and show $5.50 or show alone $2.75.

CIRCLE THEATRE PLAY

Wayne Kendall, left, is seen as Richard Miller, a 1906 high school senior, in the current Circle Theatre production of Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" He has just returned from a nocturnal adventure in a state which evokes shocked disapproval from his mother, Essie Miller, played by Edie Karas.

Sierra Club Hikes

Ventana chapter of the Sierra Club has several hikes planned for the coming weekend and next week.

Launtz Creek, a tributary of the south fork of the Little Sur River, will be the destination of the hike led by Ruth Albee on Saturday. This hike of seven to eight miles, round trip, provides close-up views of Pico Blanco and the Ventana Primitive Area. The trail is "a breeze," according to Mrs. Albee. Meeting place is Boucher's Gap at 9 a.m. In case of wet weather, a check should be made by telephoning 624-7281.

Offered Sierra Club members on Saturday and Sunday is a knapsack trip to Dolan's Hole. Norman McBride will lead the group which will start at Big Sur State Park, follow the Mt. Manuel trail then a route to an old campsite on Dolan's Creek, a tributary of the Ventana Creek fork of the Big Sur River. On Sunday, the hike will continue to Tin House on the south fork of the Little Sur River then return on the Mt. Manuel trail. This overnight trip will be made no matter what weather occurs.

The owners of Big Creek Ranch near Lucia have given Ventana chapter permission to hike to the two waterfalls in Devil's Canyon on Sunday under the leadership of Rudd Crawford. There will be also, a hike to the hot sulphur springs in Big Creek.

Starting on Saturday, a burro trip will be sponsored by Ventana chapter. Elizabeth F. Jones will be the leader. The trip, designed for all ages and capabilities, will end on March 23. Starting and ending point will be Upper Carmel Valley.

White Oaks Theatre Reopens Tomorrow

Regularly scheduled performances will commence at White Oaks Theatre tomorrow. This will be the first time the doors have been open to the public since the recent financial crisis almost permanently closed the theatre in January.

For the next five weeks, Friday night audiences will see "U.S.A." the powerful dramatic revue based on highlights of American life between 1900 and 1930—the lighthearted "Gigi" will be seen on Saturday evenings. On Sunday afternoons, a totally new production of, "The Wonderment of Gleep" will be presented for children and their parents. These productions will continue to be available also for bookings by groups and organizations in and beyond Monterey County.

Admission is a flat $2 for the 8:30 p.m. evening performances. Curtain time for "Gleep" is 2:30 p.m. and the rates are 75 cents for children and $1 for adults. Further information may be obtained by telephoning the theatre (659-2248).

RLS TEACHER RECEIVES MEDAL

Colonel Fred L. Walker (USA ret.) of Carmel Valley, a teacher at Robert Louis Stevenson School, stands with his family and Major General R. G. Fergusson (right), commanding general of Ft. Ord, after General Fergusson recently presented him with the Legion of Merit. Colonel Walker received the medal for his meritorious leadership as committee group commander at Fort Ord from September 1965 to July 1966. Members of his family are (from second left) Katheryn, James and Mrs. Dorothy Walker.

EASTER VACATION

In a flurry of excitement, the students and faculty, are aiming for the annual Easter vacation that starts tomorrow. If reported social events are any indication, it looks like it will be a busy holiday for most of the boys. Meanwhile, back at the ranch—

TRACK: Starting their training on March 1, the Stevenson track team opened the 1967 season with a scrimmage (practice) meet against Carmel and Gonzales high schools at the M.P.C. track this past week. Defending C.A.A. co-champions, the Stevenson runners will be hard pressed this season with only five returning lettermen, but some early season performances indicated it will be a good season. Working without a track, and without much early training, star middle-distance runner Larry Kuechler still managed a 30 yard win in the 880, closely followed by Mark Farber. Other lettermen showing well this early were Kirk Barr, Robbie Ford and Pat Wu. Bright hopes for this year are Taylor Grant (both running and long jump), Rick Johnson, Willis Cook, Don Hicok, Mark Stevenson and Ken Drummonds. Ken Dillon made a fine early season run in the mile, and Tom Brown surprised everyone with his great opening 440 run. Other results next week.

GOLF: Arch rival Menlo Prep was downed last week, 17-10, and the hot shooting golfers take on St. Francis today at Pebble Beach. Fred Manning and Steve Barlow are showing great early season form, with Jeff Hildebrand and George Kelley both turning in solid games. Coach Dave Wilson predicts another outstanding season.

TENNIS: Still taking on the college teams in order to sharpen their game, the tennis team was defeated by San Jose State College last Thursday on the winners' court. While Steve Dart was the only local winner, Coach Jerry Keuhn had high praise for the fine games of Ron Marston, Mike Machette, Ken Drummond, Geoff Haynes, Ed Scott and John Clancy. "After all" said Keuhn, "our boys are six to eight years younger than most of these players and they still give them a real game. We expect an outstanding season."

RAIN: Well, this wasn't a game, but a lack of one. While the rains were nice enough on Saturday to let up long enough for the happy carnival and bazaar to be a whopping success, the Rifle team (and "Coach" C. E. Wilson), plus the riding team, were rained-out on Sunday. Rematches coming. As riding team Captain Mason Phelps said: "It wasn't the horses, but the people who didn't like the rain."

SPEECH: Nine varsity speakers entered the P.F.L. tournament at Gilroy last Saturday winning a total of 10 separate awards and taking second place in team honors. The team has now won over 70 major awards this year, with state and league finals yet to go. Heading the list of winners this week were Oratorical whiz Don Stillwell with a first and fourth, Steve Dart making a surprise bid for Extemp honors by taking third. Seniors Joe Arsenio and Grover Wickersham, and Juniors Joel Harris and John Cann also placed in the finals, with Mark Stevenson taking third, and Pete Cowden fifth in the Radio Announcing (experimental) event. For many, it was their last meet of the year as only high point winners will be entered in the league finals where entries are limited. Debate finals are April 1 at Cabrillo College in Santa Cruz, with the individual events being held at M.P.C. on April 8. (Judges are always welcome at these events, and if you would like to participate please contact Curt Cureton at Monterey High School, league president)

MR. RICKLEFS: Mr. Ricklefs spent three days at the Anna Head school this week on the C.A.I.S. Accredidation Committee for that school. This makes his third such "service" this school year, and a most important contribution to independent education.

ABALONE SEASON

Open sportfishing season for abalone opened statewide today.

An outstanding contribution to the unique character of Carmel is made by the local branch of United California Bank. Outside, the American colonial architecture blends well with the Pine Inn complex in which it is located. The interior is decorated in Victorian motif with black walnut panelling, open fireplace and green velour upholstered furniture.

Shown in the top picture is the Carmel bank's manager, Don Nelson who was transferred here from the Carmel Rancho office. Nelson has been a California resident for 28 years. He lives on our Peninsula with his wife Carol. They have a three-year-old daughter, Leslie, and six-months-old son, Andrew.

Webster Downer is the assistant manager. He is shown in the lower picture at right, sitting at his desk in the office. Downer and his wife, Marguerite, live on Allen Place in Hatton Fields. Maggie, as many local people know Mrs. Downer, is now very busy completing the restoration of the old Perry House in Monterey. This historic house will be open for the Monterey Peninsula Adobe Tour on April 29.

Carmel Rotary Aids Scouts And Scholars

Last month the Carmel Rotary Club voted to pay $52 for fire extinguishers for the Boy Scout House and to donate $100 working capital for Troop 32. The board also passed a motion to donate a scholarship of $312 to cover tuition fees for two semesters for a foreign student selected by Monterey Peninsula College on the basis of "need, academic accomplishment and promise, and the student's dedication to the goal of returning to his country to apply his training."

The club also voted to pay up to $300 per year to both Carmel High School and Robert Louis Stevenson School for scholarship pins.

NEW OWNER OF CARMEL WORK CENTER

From a vineyard in Mendocino County to the purchase of one of Carmel's most unique gift shops may seem like a jump to some people but not to Laura Hoffman, the new owner of the Carmel Work Center.

Mrs. Hoffman came to Carmel in 1948 a year after her husband died. He had operated a vineyard in Mendocino County for many years and the change for Mrs. Hoffman was one of so much beauty that she decided to make Carmel her permanent home.

About 14 years ago she went to work for Mrs. Gertrude Meyers who was the owner of the Carmel Work Center until two weeks ago. Mrs. Hoffman worked under Mrs. Leslie Emery until five years ago when she took over the management of the shop.

Under the direction of Mrs. Hoffman, the center will take on even more of the flavor of Carmel as she will encourage more local artists to display their work. She wants to represent the local artist to every extent possible and hopes with encouragement that many unknown craftsmen in this area will bring in their work for her consideration in representing them.

Wood carvings, pottery, bells, Couroc trays and unusual iron work are but a part of the vast display of different and beautifully executed work that comprises the stock of this shop. Under the guiding hand of Mrs. Hoffman there will be the same high quality of workmanship as before with the delightful prospect of new, interesting and artistic work added in the months ahead.

Being a great-grandmother is also part of Mrs. Hoffman's busy life. Her daughter, Mrs. Mary Jane Thayer, lives here and her granddaughter, the former Midge Ensley, attended schools here and graduated from Carmel High School. Midge is now married to Major Knipp and they are living in Oberammergau, Germany. Mrs. Hoffman's great-grandchildren are Susan, who is three, and Laura, who was born last January.

All in all it's a very busy and rewarding life that Mrs. Hoffman is leading and the help that she has given countless artists in the area by displaying their work will be continued by her in the Carmel Work Center.

CUTTING DAY

Monterey's unique event for garden enthusiasts—Cutting Day—is Saturday. Free cuttings and plants will be distributed in Friendly Plaza in front of Colton Hall on Pacific Street during the morning.

Irish Celebration All Day Tomorrow

Fun-loving people, whether full-blooded Irish or not, have "a hundred thousand welcomes" awaiting them tomorrow at Del Monte Golf Course and Mark Thomas Inn during the fourth annual St. Patrick's Day celebration which includes the Monterey Peninsula Championship of Ireland Golf Tournament.

The day's events start at 9 a.m. with the arrival of a pretty Irish Airlines hostess who will bring from the "ould sod" a sprig of real shamrock for each golfer. Lunch will be served at Del Monte Grill from noon until 2 p.m. At 6 p.m., there will be a no-host "Irish hour" in the Mark Thomas Terrace Room. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., during which awards will be presented and Father Lawrence Farrell and Ted Durein contribute a bit of the wit of Erin. Dancing will start at 8:30 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m.

All proceeds of the celebration will go to St. Jude's Youth Center Building Fund.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

SWISS SPECIALTIES

Snow-capped Alps, brilliantly blue lakes, storybook villages! For those who love Switzerland, the next best thing to being there is to see tomorrow evening's Explorerama film in living color about our favorite foreign country.

This time we suggest a shortened menu—gay and informal—featuring a Swiss fondue, or a fruit bread with international chocolate direct from Switzerland. This can be served before or after the showing. Perhaps we would be in just the right mood for the fondue afterwards. Or ask friends to come in for dessert and go on together to Sunset Center. For those who don't want to worry about the fondue, the Apricot Bread would be easiest of all.

Fondue's popularity began in the 1800's (outside Switzerland) as a famed chef's discovery because he doted on cheese fondue for breakfast. But like most great dishes, the first fondue of cheese originated in practical necessity, not haute cuisine.

Anytime is fondue time when you have good dunking companions. Fondue's serve-yourself easiness and share-the-pot congeniality make a perfect after the theater snack. So here is a foolproof fondue if you use the right cheese. It must be Switzerland Swiss and Switzerland Natural Gruyere.

You don't have to buy a special imported fondue pot . . . the Swiss use a pottery or castiron "caquelon" and long-handled forks, but any round pot and any fork will do. For quick melting, start fondue on stove, transfer to preheated chafing dish, keep bubbling gently over low burner.

Carmel's shops have a wide selection of fondue accoutrements and one can also buy packaged instant fondue! A green tossed salad, tart and spicy, goes with it as well as a light dry white wine, kirsch, brandy, applejuice, coffee, chocolate or beer.

Simple as ABC Swiss Fondue
(Serves 4)

One lb. Switzerland Swiss cheese, shredded or equivalent in slices, finely cut; 3 tbsps. flour or cornstarch; 1 clove fresh garlic; 2 cups dry white wine; 1 tbsp. lemon juice; 3 tbsps. kirsch or brandy; nutmeg, pepper or paprika to taste; Italian or French bread, cut in cubes with crusts left on.

Dredge cheese lightly with flour or cornstarch. Rub pot with split peeled garlic, pour in wine; set over low heat. When air bubbles rise to surface, add lemon juice (be sure it is fresh and strained), then add cheese by handfuls, stirring constantly with wooden fork or spoon until cheese is melted. Add kirsch and spices, stirring until blended.

Serve bubbling hot, in table-top appliance or preheated chafing dish. Spear bread cubes with fork through crust. Dunk and swirl in fondue. Keep fondue at constant simmer. And remember to stir the fondue in the same direction. Here are a few time-saving tips: shred cheese (always Switzerland Swiss) ahead of serving time; wrap in saran or aluminum foil; store in refrigerator. Cut bread cubes at the same time; wrap for fresh keeping.

Apricot Bread Helvetia

One and a fourth cups dried apricots; 1½ cups dried prunes; 2 dried figs; 1½ cups raisins; 1 cup chopped walnuts; 1/3 cup sugar; 1 tbsp. powdered cinnamon; dash, each, powdered nutmeg and cloves; 2¼ cups sifted flour; ½ tsp. salt; ½ cup butter or margarine; ¼ cup water; 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten.

Soak apricots, prunes and figs overnight in water to cover. Drain well. Pit prunes and put soaked fruit through medium blade or food chopper. Combine fruits, nuts, sugar and spices. Combine flour and salt in mixing bowl. Cut butter or magarine with pastry blender or fork until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Mix in water and form smooth dough. Roll out between two pieces of waxed paper to rectangle about 13 by 10 inches. Remove top piece of waxed paper. Place fruit mixture in compact row lengthwise down center of dough to about 1½ inches from ends. Moisten edges of dough with a little water, then fold slices around fruit mixture, sealing together on top. Roll up ends; seal. Roll over into ungreased cookie sheet so center seam is down. Prick with fork; brush with egg yolk. Bake in 375 F. (moderate) oven until golden brown, about one hour. Cool and slice at table. Makes about 12 pieces.

Hot International Chocolate
Serves 6

Two cups milk; ½ cup chocolate flavored syrup; 2 cups freshly made double strength coffee; ¼ cup heavy cream; brandy or rum and whipped cream, all optional.

Heat milk in saucepan but do not boil. Slowly stir in chocolate with rotary beater until frothy. Pour into cups and add lacing of brandy syrup. Keeping mixture over low heat, add hot coffee and cream; beat or rum as desired. Sprinkle each with cinnamon or use cinnamon sticks as muddlers. Pass whipped cream separately.

This delicious Swiss fruit bread above, has been tested and adapted to American products and cooking methods, yet retains its original flavor and goodness. The recipe comes from a farm family in Switzerland exclusively for Party Plans.

Dazzling Concert By Stoia And Nadas

by Herman Medwin

The Monterey Peninsula was treated to a dazzling reminder of the vital musical traditions of the Austro-Hungarian Empire on February 26 when violinist Eugene Stoia and pianist Istvan Nadas joined talents in a program of chamber music at Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove. The concert, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society, included the Schubert Sonatina in D Major, Opus 137; No. 1 Brahms' Sonata in D Minor, Opus 108; and the very popular, technically difficult Beethoven Kreutzer Sonata, Opus 47, played in the tradition of Enesco and Liszt.

Eugene Stoia studied violin in his native Rumania, then Berlin and Paris with that foster parent of so many famous violinists, Georges Enesco. His musicianship gives ready evidence of his heritage, with a sensuous, insinuating vibrato and an almost rapaciously vigorous bow. Stoia does not just play brilliantly, his artistry reaches far beyond competence to a sensitive interpretation of the emotional content of an adagio, a presto agitato and a poco presto e con sentimento. It is not necessary for the listener to translate from the Italian to understand the voice of Stoia's violin.

It is strange that a sonata recital such as this is always described as "for violin and piano" rather than for piano and violin. The written precedence is misleading. Nadas' piano was a twin to Stoia's violin in this recital, and it would be an abuse to terminology to describe the piano as an accompaniment. Istvan Nadas, a teenage winner of the coveted Franz Liszt Prize in Hungary, was a piano student of Bartok and Kodaly before the years of the Nazi orgy. His sensitive co-interpretation of the great Austrian composers (Brahms and Beethoven spent their most productive years in Vienna) added mood and body to the total performance. His lucidity and great dynamic range, particularly in the Kreutzer Sonata, were a reminder of the composer's own vigor.

ART NEWS . . .

CARMEL ART ASSOCIATION SHOW

'Beach' by Jane Buffington is one of the oils in the exhibition of members' work in the main gallery of the Carmel Art Association through March.

Ships and the sea bring a salty tang to a rare exhibition of marine paintings which opened at the Laky Galleries, San Carlos Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues, on Saturday.

More than 50 oils, watercolors, charcoal and ink drawings make up the exhibition, collected by a San Francisco seaman, George E. Boulter, who has spent many years traveling through England, Australia, New Zealand and the islands of the South Pacific.

The collection represents the works of marine artists of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, and includes such well known ships as the "Cutty Sark," "Mount Stewart," "Nubia," "Australia," "Saturnus," along with many other fabled square-riggers, paddle-wheelers, screw steamers and historic naval and commercial vessels.

A unique part of the collection is a group of three paintings depicting the U.S. Great White Fleet, which President Theodore Roosevelt sent around the world on a goodwill mission in the year 1908. Famous Australian artist Frederick Elliott painted the ships when they visited Sydney, and this unusual trio of watercolors is probably the only contemporary paintings ever made of this historic fleet.

BEVERLY HACKETT SHOW

A colorful selection of wood and linoleum block prints by Beverly Hackett is currently on exhibition at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History.

Mrs. Hackett, with her artist husband, in 1949 set up studios in Nevada City after years of San Francisco living which to their mind competed with their interest in unspoiled nature. In her local exhibit is found the essence of Mrs. Hackett's work—interpretations of things loved, with an overall feeling of rural setting. Yet the work is bold and vigorous.

A native Californian, born in Oakland, Beverly Hackett studied at the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco.

Richard Lofton Memorial Show

by Pat Carey

The Richard Lofton Memorial Exhibition at the Carmel Art Association Galleries through April 5 shows one of the most vital and powerful artists that Carmel has ever produced.

The Beardsley Room is blazing with colors and light. The paintings seem to move almost physically, so deeply involved is the artist in expressing the essences of the landscapes and human beings he painted.

From a magnificent "Reclining Nude," painted in 1954, to a series of triumphant master-works painted in 1964, the full range of Richard Lofton's grasp of the elements of painting is shown.

The early ones are painted with light, sure, strong brush strokes, true to the great western traditions of perspective and anatomy. The paint quality is light, muted and sensitive. Exquisite nuances of color play upon one another, warms and cools are point and counterpoint, subtly wearing delicate poetic forms.

His large series of paintings of the great whale skeleton, which used to be at Point Lobos, is represented by: "Whale Vertebra 1955." He experimented with semi and pure abstractions, plus great imaginative compositions, such as "Resurrection" and "Satyr," a great brooding, playful figure, bursting with vitality — with his friend and animal brother, horns and all, peering from behind him.

"Sierra Sunset" is an enormous mountain blazing in the late afternoon sun—masses of brilliant snow and ice interspersed with black-green pine trees.

Then, in the summer of 1963, he painted a series of masterpieces, portraits of fellow artists and friends, one of the best of which is here—"Portrait of Arch Garner."

In this painting, he used violent, absolutely sure strokes of brilliant color to create the forms in the painting. Lofton had reached the place where he painted more with palette knife than with brush. He actually almost sculpted the paint, he followed so closely and intuitively the forms of nature. As Cezanne, he created his own interpretation of nature, based on life, involved in life, and yet superseding life in almost creating his own world of life. At the end, he threw away all hesitation and self-conciousness, and certainly all careful, concious, reasoning processes, and reached deeper into some inner depth of knowledge (from which all great creativity comes) and he painted a man — more than a man, as few can paint, more or ever.

Richard Lofton is a very great painter. His southern background, his life in beautiful Carmel preserved his natural vision. In a mechanized world, where the natural things of life seem more and more threatened, Lofton says with every brush-stroke: "Look at how beautiful things really are — look at the power and beauty in a man's face — see the magnificent hidden meaning behind all life. This is how it really is."

To quote his great southern literary counterpart, William Faulkner; "My life's work has as its purpose: To lift up the hearts of men."

'THE HOPPER'

The picture above, executed in egg tempera, is by Robert Clark, a California artist. A show of his work opens on Saturday at the Zantman Art Galleries and will be on exhibition until April 14. This show is the first time a substantial collection of Clark's work has been gathered for exhibition as collectors of this painter's work acquire his pictures almost as fast as he can conceive and create them.

'SPRING RAIN'

The above painting is another example of Robert Clark's egg tempera work now being shown at the Zantman Art Galleries. Only a few painters in the United States know and have the technical facility to express themselves in this medium in which paint dries as soon as its on canvas and cannot be gone over. Robert Clark's paintings have been shown in major museums and national shows and won numerous awards. He draws on the deep well-spring of tradition to produce works of mystery and authority. His art is one of intensification through selection, observation and personal expression. He uses only the yolk of egg, water and dry color in his technique which is superb in execution and details with firmly structured design, color and draftsmanship.

The March exhibit of the Carmel Crafts Guild in the Harrison Memorial Library features the creative stitchery and driftwood sculpture of Alice Robertson.

Since coming to live in Carmel in 1954, Mrs. Robertson's interest in crafts has been stimulated and aided by classes in adult education and by workshops provided by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association. She feels particularly indebted to the late Helen Snider for giving her a deeper appreciation of the beauty of form found in natural wood.

Mrs. Robertson's present interest is in the field of creative stitchery with its boundless possibilities. She has taught classes in stitchery at the Carmel Foundation.

Youngsters at Woods School hear the string ensemble of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra during one of the in-the-classroom concerts sponsored by the Carmel Rotary Club.

The Magic Of Music Is Brought To Schoolchildren By Rotary Club

A golden-haired girl mischievously mimics a musician. A brash young boy tries to stick his head inside a French horn. These are just two incidents seen in our Carmel schools during the last few weeks.

Discipline has not deserted the schoolroom, but curiosity and excitement are pervading the atmosphere. This recent development is the result of the Carmel Rotary Club's in-the-classroom concert and clinic project utilizing members of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

Supported by the service club and staffed by three musical ensembles of the orchestra, to date more than 1,900 children have had a chance to see and hear music-in-the-making under the direction of John Gosling, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra.

The program is designed to increase the youngsters' interest in both the music played and the instruments used. The first group to participate in this person-to-person project has been the string section.

Hungarian-born Elisabeth Du Val has served as spokesman for this unit. A graduate of the Royal Academy of Music in Budapest, she has appeared as a concert violinist in more than 1,400 cities throughout the world. Cellist Louise Vadetsky had a varied musical career in Hollywood before settling on the Monterey Peninsula where she has shared her talent with hundreds of cello students. Camille Olaeta, who graduated from the University of the Pacific as a music major and has performed with many of our local organizations, serves as the pianist. These three women have worked together for many years as the Peninsula Concert Trio. The fourth addition to the string school ensemble is Florace Arnold. A teacher at Portola Junior High School, she is a former member of the Tucson Symphony Orchestra and the Virginia Symphony Orchestra.

The woodwind family is being introduced by Barry Fader, first oboist with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra. His impressive background includes playing with the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra after being awarded scholarships for both the Aspen and Tanglewood music festivals. On the flute, Claire Durland is featured, with Coral Cope playing the bassoon and Merry L'Argent demonstrating the intricacies of the clarinet to the children.

Doubling in brass is Carlberg Jones, who appears with both the woodwind ensemble and brass section. A member of the Fort Ord Band, he was a French horn soloist with the Orquesta Sinfonica Del Noroeste. Representing the Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra is Greg Sprung on the Susan, who attended Carmel schools, graduated from Carmel High School in 1963 and attended Foothills Junior College before enrolling at San Jose State College where she was a social welfare major. She is now working for the Siliconex Corporation in Sunnyvale.

Farley graduated from La Port High School in Texas and was in the Marine Corps for four years before moving to San Jose where he attended the city college there for several years. He is working for the First National Bank of San Jose at present.

Erik Norberg's New Job

Erik Norberg, who is the son of Councilman and Mrs. Gunnar Norberg, has left Carmel to take a position with KXOA Radio in Sacramento. He will be on the news staff of the station doing the announcing and news gathering.

Erik's interest in radio began in the fifth grade at Sunset School when his teacher, Neil Jensen, gave him two crystal radio sets to try and fix. "I never did get them working but my interest was aroused and from then on, I was hooked," Erik said.

A 1964 graduate of Pomona College, he was the manager for the college's radio station in his senior year and since graduation, has been working for KMBY in Monterey on both their AM and FM stations. As part of his KMBY job Erik has been doing the Nite Line show, a call-in program, where people give their opinions on different subjects over the air. This has been the most interesting part of his duties.

Erik started his new job on Monday and by that time hoped that he would have found an apartment. "I only have two days in which to move all my things up and get a place, so this will undoubtedly set some kind of record as far as the fastest mover in the West is concerned," Erik observed.

Basic Training Ends

His film strips, along with a recording made by a Nigerian student, are being made available for studies of Nigeria now part of the fourth grade curriculum of the California schools.

Mrs. Fletcher Dutton presided at the refreshment table. Members and guests who enjoyed the evening were Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Richmond Garrett, Lt. Cdr. and Mrs. Walter Reuland, Col. and Mrs. Leonard Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jaxon, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Getz, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Coyne, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Briggs, Mrs. Leon Fletcher, Mrs. E. M. Porter, Mrs. William Harrah, Mrs. George B. Turner, Fletcher Dutton, Bernard Revoir, Walter Reuland Jr., Miss Lila Adams, Miss Betty Furness and Miss Betty Renz. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gustafson of Mead, Nebraska, were visiting Mr. Gustafson's sisters, Mrs. George B. Turner and Mrs. Reuben Johnson, and were among the guests.

SOUTH PACIFIC

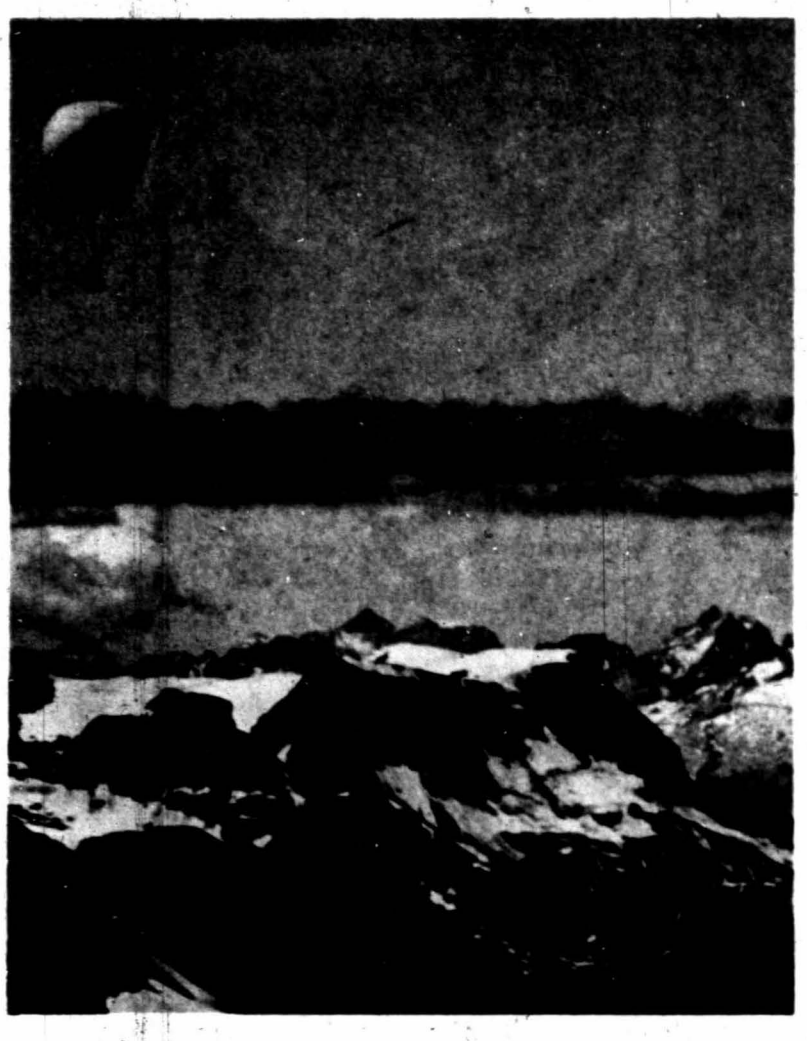

by Arthur Porter

South Pacific, just those two words immediately conjure up visions of romantic beauty, don't they? Even the island names: Bora Bora, Noumea, Tahiti, Moorea, Fiji, Pago Pago, Papeete, Nuiafo'ou in the Tongas, Samoa, the Australs, the Taumotus and the Marquesas, are sheer poetry and magic. The unquestioned queen of all the islands is still Tahiti, rising majestically over its immediate group, the Society Islands, supreme over all the ten thousand and one islands of the Pacific.

We have read tributes to Tahiti and her sister isles by Bougainville, Darwin and Captain Cook; by Melville, Robert Louis Stevenson and Jack London. Two hundred years ago, navigator Bougainville said of Tahiti: "I thought I was walking in the Garden of Eden." Robert Louis Stevenson called the Tahitians: "God's best—at least God's sweetest works." And we can still go there, even if it is not now quite the dream of unspoiled loveliness that Bougainville and the others saw. Yet, one has the urge to see it now before the jumbo jets carrying 400 to 500 passengers, which will be circling the globe in 1969 or 1970, spill their contents on the beaches!

Didn't Confucius say "It's later than you think." How very true today! So, let us do our travelling to these last paradises without delay and in the greatest comfort beautifully and efficiently guided by our local travel agents! The old proverb, "Procrastination is the thief of time," is more than apt in this present age, when time itself is apparently fast disappearing. The ever time shortening distances — covered wagon, railroad, old style planes, supersonic jets, give one pause to wonder next!

Did you know that the idea of an International Tourist year was unanimously adopted by the United Nations General Assembly last fall? It means that without exception all member governments agreed to see what they could do to cut the red tape of travel and introduce other travel benefits. U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg writes: "International Tourist Year is only a slogan. But behind it lies a simple, useful idea: that tourism is the diplomacy of every man. We need more of that diplomacy . . . the basic concept of Oscar Hammerstein's lyric, 'Getting to Know You, Getting to Learn All About You.'"

BALLOON FLIGHT OVER SWISS ALPS

"Incomparable Switzerland," a new feature length color travel and adventure film will have its exclusive Northern California showing tomorrow at 8:15 p.m.

The film is the result of three years' planning and filming and presents Switzerland well beyond the typical approach. It has been hailed as the finest travel and adventure film ever made about Switzerland. Narrated in person, by its photographer, Phil Walker, the film contains stereophonic musical backgrounds and sound effects that were recorded in Switzerland. Highlights include a spectacular balloon flight over the Alps, Bern and Zurich; Easter at Mendrisio and unparalleled views of Alpine majesty. Tickets at ($1.75) are available at Central Box Office. The program is part of the current Explorerama Carmel series presented by the Explorers Club of San Francisco.

MUSEUM TAX EXEMPT

Kent Seavey, curator of the Carmel Museum of Art which will be located in the old Wells-Fargo building on Dolores Street, has received federal notice that the museum has been officially designated as a tax exempt corporation.

Travelogue At Hi-12

by S. D. Mummert

Despite our seige of heavy weather, an overflow house of Hi-12 members were on hand Monday noon to enjoy a "Visit to Morocco," presented by Charles J. Yost who, with his wife, Eloise, have traveled and photographed extensively in Turkey, North Africa and the Holy Land. Philip Smith, general program chairman who has known the Yosts for many years, introduced the speaker as a "travelogue photographer."

A general explanation of religious, social and other facets of Mohammedan life preceded a showing of selected colored slides. Rigorous restrictions limit subject material in this as in other Arab countries but this did not prevent the Yosts from taking some unusual shots of the natives. Unique features of mosque architecture showed rare photography, for the most part in the green Spring season. Tile work is a well developed specialty throughout this region.

In contrast to the elaborate pictures of religious subjects, some intimate examples of native life were included.

Sassoon Heads Chest Business Area Drive

Steven H. Sasson of Carmel has been appointed chairman of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest business division for the 1968 campaign, according to a report from Campaign Chairman Frank J. Caufield.

In making the report Caufield indicated that the selection was based on the fact that Sassoon headed the drive in the Carmel business district last year and obtained an increase of about 7% for the largest amount ever raised.

Sassoon is a structural and civil engineer. He and his wife, Janet, reside in the Rancho Rio Vista. He is a member and candidate for reelection to board of education of the Carmel Unified School District, first vice president of the Carmel Music Society, past president of the Carmel Rotary Club and the Monterey Bay Chapter of the California Society of Professional Engineers, also a past board member of the Carmel Sanitary District.

Zanides Complete Cast

Theatre goers here will be glad to learn that two of Carmel's best known actors, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Zanides of Carmel Valley, have added a new member to their "troop." The latest addition to the family is a lovely little girl named Zoe Andrea who was born on March 1 at the Community Hospital. "We now have the complete cast for 'Fiddler on the Roof,'" Roz stated happily.

Zoe has four delighted sisters, Dawn, Glynis, Regan, and Deirdre and according to Mom, "I never get to see the baby at all, what with the girls trying to do everything for her.

"Nick is just as bad as the girls", reports Roz "as he picks her up whenever she makes the slightest move. All I have to do now is sit and relax which is very nice believe me."

Youth Group's Mexican Trip

Culminating months of planning, fund-raising, and learning Spanish, the Ikthys Youth Fellowship will leave tomorrow for a trip to Ensenada, Mexico. There, as an Easter week project, they will build a wall for La Iglesia de Los Hermanos, a Protestant church under the pastorate of the Reverend Roberto Cordova.

In the afternoons and evenings they will conduct a Vacation Bible School with Mexican youth. While in Ensenada, the Carmel young people have been invited to visit several other churches and will have the opportunity, with the aid of interpreters, to exchange views and experiences with Ensenada youth.

Camping facilities on the beach will permit some enjoyable "recess" hours. Ikthys members attending will be Garry Onloff, Kathy Benson, Richard Colvin, Suzanne Desjarlais, Randy, Becky and Lindy Douglas, Mike Fallon, Parker Johnson, Ed Kawananakoa, Chris Morrice, Susan Oshida, Chuck and Barbara Pearson, Janet, Lynn and Donn Powers, Dick Thomas, Margaret Toy, Ken Wade and Tom Weaver. Adult sponsors will include Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Douglas, James Blee, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Powers and Mrs. Dorothy Colvin.

They will be joined on their trip by the Youth Group from the Bass Lake Community Church, under the leadership of the Reverend Walter Boring.

Members of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services, Inc. working at their Thrift Shop, 785 Broadway, Seaside, are being joined this month by members of the Children's Home Society. All proceeds from sales at the shop during March will be received by this organization which is concerned with the adoption of children. At the MPVS meeting held on March 3, at the USO in Monterey, President Mrs. Howard Healey announced that resaleable items from the members would be appreciated.

Also at the March meeting, Spring flowers and a birthday cake centerpiece reminded MPVS members that they had completed 12 years of service to the community. For many years before that the name of the organization had been American Women's Volunteer Service. The coffee table was decorated by Mrs. Allan Craig of Pacific Grove and pouring coffee were new members Mrs. Charles Aucult and Mrs. James Dixon, both of Carmel.

Tickets to the MPVS Garden Tour have been distributed to members. This popular event, which attracts visitors from a wide area, will be held on April 19. Gardens in Carmel and Pebble Beach are included and a tea will be offered in the afternoon. Tickets are now available from all MPVS members, also by writing to Box 2004, Carmel.

Pinpoint Profile

This week we were pleased to talk to a real Carmelite—one who was actually born here. We will not say when she was born, that is irrelevant and immaterial, but, we can say it was a long time ago.

Mary Machado Goold's birthplace was a home west of the village at a time when the fields surrounding the Mission were cultivated by her father, Christiano Machado. At first he brought his little family to live in one of the adobe houses near the Mission, but, as Mary Goold tells it, at the time she was born the family had moved into a two-story house (now the Lloyd Tevis home) built by her father. The reason for this move was her Portuguese mother became uneasy when the California earth shook with quakes. She feared the adobe house would collapse on them.

There are very few little red schoolhouses left but Bay School is one of them. It is located at San Jose Creek near Point Lobos. Here Mary and her 13 brothers and sisters attended classes. The Carmel River separated them from the schoolhouse and there were no bridges. Usually this was no problem as they used a husky raft to cross the water. However there were times during the winter months when crossing was impossible because of the current. This always brought smiles—no school today!

At home, the children were kept busy with multitudinous chores required to keep a farm operating. As an economy measure Mary recalls her mother taking the chick feed sacks and, after bleaching them as well as she could, using the material for making underclothing for the children. Sometimes the ink was difficult to remove and the printing would not bleach out. So when the wind blew the girls' skirts high they did a little free advertising for SPERRY'S CHOICE CHICK FEED.

In 1904, Mary and Charles Goold were married in the Mission. They bought a house and thriving livery business from the Coffee brothers. Their stables were located at the corner of Ocean and Junipero. Horses were the only means of transportation in those days. The business flourished and kept them both busy since many hands were required to keep it operating. At one time there were 60 horses to be cared for besides running the stage line to Monterey, operating the rigs of all kinds—buggies, wagons and even a tally-ho with four beautiful horses in bright trappings to take the many tourists over the 17 Mile Drive.

With the innovation of the motor car, Mary was in her element. She loved to drive and still does. Even now, whenever she takes a notion, she gets into her little car and away she goes to Palo Alto to visit her daughter, Irene, and son, Kenneth, who live up there. Proudly she showed us a recent picture of her grandson, Capt. Kenneth C. Goold Jr., just back from overseas duty with the Tactical Air Command, receiving an achievement award for his unit.

When Charles Goold died in 1960 Mary sold the farm they had in Fresno and came back to live among the friends she has known for over 80 years . . . here in Carmel.

Businessmen's Group To Support Institute

The second organizational meeting of the business section of the Friends of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies will be held Monday at 4 p.m. at the Institute.

Thomas E. McCullough, chairman, will lead discussion concerning the purposes of the new organization. The business section of the Friends plans to seek membership from every sector of the local business communities and to support the academic and cultural goals of the college.

Reciprocally, the institute wants to be a widely active member of the surrounding communities by offering the services of its speakers' bureau and inviting the Friends to special celebrations, lectures, and buffet-discussions held annually at the campus.

A new auditorium, accommodating 200 people, will be the location of many institute events when the four-building complex now under construction across from 425 Van Buren Street is completed. The complex will have classrooms in an Asian Building, European Building, and Latin-American Building.

Russell G. Bisnett, Institute vice-president, is head of the membership committee of the business section.

ANGELINA OCKENGA

Mrs. Angelina T. Ockenga, a Peninsula resident since 1949, died on Sunday in a local convalescent hospital after a long period of failing health. She was born on April 30, 1876 in Chicago, Illinois.

During the 17 years of her illness, Mrs. Ockenga crocheted over 100 afghans which have been sent all over the world to various missions.

Mrs. Ockenga was a member of the Park Street Church in Boston, Massachusetts, where her son, Doctor Harold John Ockenga, is currently the pastor. Her husband the late Herman Ockenga, died three years ago.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Tod B. Sperling of Carmel, widow of the late Reverend Sperling, a former pastor of the Mayflower Church of Pacific Grove, and prior to his death in 1957, in charge of the music at the Monterey Methodist Church. Miss Angie Ockenga and Mrs. Leonard (Florence) Czajczynski, both of Detroit, Michigan; seven grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Services were held on Tuesday at the Paul Funeral Chapel, with Doctor George Hunter Hall of the Carmel Presbyterian Church officiating. Concluding services were held on Wednesday in Oak Park, Illinois at the Haggard Funeral Home, to be followed by burial in Oak Ridge Cemetery of Chicago.

The Paul Mortuary was in charge of all the local arrangements.

LAWNS

One of the most rewarding jobs any homeowner can tackle is the renovation of an old lawn. When this work is properly executed the results are worthy of a celebration. We refer to lawns that are more than ten years old and are in need of rejuvenation. If your lawn is younger and not performing well it is likely that you have a soil problem.

PHYSICAL CONDITIONING

The first operation in lawn renovation is, literally, "scratching the surface." Using a steel rake, remove most of the old, matted thatch that's been collecting over the years. Rake the lawn in one direction, say east to west, then mow it north and south. Next, rake it south to north, then mow it east and west. This is good exercise. Some of the chaff removal will leave bare spots. If they're too many, get a few pounds of good seed to fill in.

CHEMICAL CONDITIONING

Under normal circumstances a good, old lawn that's cleaned up physically is ready to thrive again. If there's a problem of water runoff, apply gypsum at the rate of 100 lbs. per 1,000 sq. ft. and water in thoroughly. This is best done on a calm day. Now all that's left is the scattering of the lawn seed and the feeding. Grass requires a goodly portion of nitrogen to keep going and this should be applied as soon as the renovation is completed. An ideal formula for this purpose would be 10-10-5, which is generally available in pelleted form. Give the lawn ten pounds per 1,000 sq. ft. once a month until October. If, for some reason, the grass loses its greenness during the summer, a mineral deficiency may be indicated. This will call for a feeding of milorganite, which will supply all of the trace elements without burning the grass.

MAINTENANCE

There are a few well-tested rules for tending a good plot of grass. Proper watering is essential. Sprinkle your lawn only when the soil needs water, then irrigate deeply. Plan your feeding for March, April, May, June, October and November. This is when the desirable grasses feed. Keep your mower blade at two inches . . . no lower. If you catch the clippings you should use a complete fertilizer occasionally, to maintain the phosphorus and potash levels. If you let the clippings fall you should use more nitrogen to help break them down. Your garden supply dealer will help you select the right one. Feed lightly, and oftener, for the best results.

One week from today we'll take a look at the oakworm picture.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

A book which may make your tinted hair stand erect in horror is COSMETICS: TRICK OR TREAT by Toni Stabile. This is an expose of the cosmetics industry and the ingredients in the cosmetics which you and I are using every day, in our ignorance. The coal tars, the pigments, the hormones, are highly injurious to some people. The index to the book is a joy because products are listed under their trade names as well as under the manufacturer. Legal actions and judgments obtained are also listed. The entire mishmash is possible because of loopholes in the food and drug laws in this country. Read Cosmetics: Trick or Treat, and change your beauty life.

Nat Hentoff was born in Boston, educated in the East and abroad, and now writes for the New Yorker. His latest book is called OUR CHILDREN ARE DYING. In it he tells the story of the courageous principal of P.S. 119 in Harlem. It seems that P.S. 119 was in terrible condition and the school board refused to do anything to remedy the situation. Rats ran about the place, plaster fell from walls and ceilings. Water stood in the halls after a rain because of leaks in the roof.

So Principal Shapiro did an unheard of thing. He took a full page advertisement in the New York World Telegram and in it he told the world what was wrong at P.S. 119. It worked. Even the Mayor came down to inspect the place. Today a new school is located on the same street as the old one, and Shapiro is still principal. He had proved the truth of the old adage about the squeaking wheel which gets the oil. This makes an interesting book and is a lesson in courage for us all.

Two recent appearances on television have put the author of HELL'S ANGELS in the public eye. His name is Thompson Hunter and he spent a year associating with the Angels to gather material for this book. The time was almost too long, for toward the end he was badly beaten and stomped by his playmates. He believes that newspaper publicity made the Angels what they are, because before publicity moved in, they were just a group of punks. With publicity, they became nationally known and their numbers grew and with numbers came fear. This is a rough book but rough things go on where the Angels are. Reading it will fascinate you and educate you.

A new novel, THE MAN WHO KNEW KENNEDY, is by Vance Bourjaily. The action starts on the day President Kennedy was shot. Strange things happen after that day. This is good writing, so we are not too surprised to learn that the author teaches writing at the Iowa Writers Workshop.

"The earth shaking prophecies and remarkable medical cures" of Edgar Cayce are the subject of the book by Jess Stearn entitled EDGAR CAYCE; THE SLEEPING PROPHET. Cayce predicted the destruction of most of Los Angeles and San Francisco at some time during the span from 1958 to 1998. He said that some time during that span the lost Atlantis would rise from the sea, although he said that such a rising might take a number of years. He suggested remedies borrowed from medical practice of past ages and future ages also, but they worked as he said they would. He spoke in foreign tongues although he had left school while in the sixth grade and never returned for more formal education. He always said that prayer alone could ward off some of the startling prophecies which came to him as he rested in self-induced trances. He died at the age of 67, completely worn out by the life of service to all who asked him for help. Now about that destruction of the California coastal cities bit, here we are right in the middle of it, and no hard earthquake for 60 years. It might be that the only safe place is in a plane soaring aloft in carefree fashion watching out for earthquakes below.

This librarian is part way through the new Nabokov book, his memoirs, which he has called SPEAK, MEMORY. He writes with beautiful precision, although you may agree with me that he is often ponderous, and I find myself almost forming the words as I read. Bored with his long accounts of his various relatives who married someone or other with an equally unpronounceable name, I skip along along until I reach an interesting spot again. Lovely. Vladimir Nabokov's Speak, Memory is well worth your attention.

Do not forget that we have films, all wildlife and sports and such, but beautiful. And we have the projector fixed again and ready to serve you, with your films or ours. Something for everyone.

BEGORRA! IT'S THE LUCK O' THE IRISH
TO FIND A FAMILY HOME LIKE THIS!

Enter the handsome garden gate and find a sunny, completely enclosed, surfaced yard where your children can play safely and happily under beautiful trees, away from traffic, yet within easy walking distance to all schools.

The architecture of the comfortable looking home is California ranch, with heavy shake roof and lots of old brick to contrast with the painted redwood exterior. The interior is plastered, heat is forced air, floors are hardwood. Age is perhaps 12 years.

Inside, you'll find a living room overlooking the front garden, a dining room with front and rear patio views, 4 bedrooms and a study, or 5 bedrooms, if you choose. The garage has been turned into a working artist's studio, but it's easily reconverted.

The price is just $47,500 for this unusually handsome corner property in Carmel's sunniest area—and it's most convenient for family living because of its easy proximity to schools, shopping, churches, and Peninsula points of interest. May we show you this fine home? Sure, and it's such a pleasure!

Deny Men's Club

mit for the proposed site, off-street parking would be required. Based on the 30-member peak use of the premises, this parking would entail ten off-street spaces for members and one for each employee of the club on the site where it is proposed to retain the two existing buildings.

The Carmel Club was proposed by a group of Carmel businessmen who meet each morning for coffee and desire a private building for this purpose, also for luncheon, the project to be operated along the lines of the Old Capital Club in Monterey.

Denied, also, was a variance for a "swimming pool playhouse" of 861 square feet requested by Larry A. Hart for property in the sand dunes at the north end of the beach. The construction would exceed the 400 square foot allowable variance and thus adversely affect the general zoning plan of the city, the zoning objective of the area, and the character of the neighborhood in which the Hart property lies were reasons given for the denial.

All Saints' Episcopal Church was given a variance to construct a small baptistry at the northeast corner of the present church structure.

Award Bids For Sewer Program

Bids were awarded for the Carmel Sanitary District's 1967 sewer replacement program at a meeting of the board of directors on March 7 presided over by President Harold C. Arnot. Granite Construction Company will undertake replacement of existing sewers on Camino Del Monte between Second Avenue and San Carlos, on Second between Mission and San Carlos, and on San Carlos between Second and Camino Del Monte. The cost for this work will be $21,040. Work will begin shortly and controlled detours may be necessary on Camino Del Monte and Second. However no work will be permitted during the Easter holiday week starting on Monday.

South Bay Underground Construction Company was awarded contracts for sewer replacement in two other areas. At a cost of $6,125, sewers will be replaced on Scenic Drive for a distance of 1,000 feet south of Valley View, and, at a cost of $8,313, the sewer line on North San Antonio from the 17 Mile Drive to Fourth Avenue will be replaced. Detours may be necessary in these two locations also but will not be instituted during the holiday week.

Most of the sewers to be replaced were installed prior to 1926 and constitute some of the oldest portions of the sanitary district's sewage disposal system. It was deemed necessary by the directors to replace the entire line in these old areas.

All bids were evaluated by Harry Hilbert, sanitary district secretary; Shelburn Robison, the district's attorney; and Kennedy Engineers, the engineering firm for the district.

MAYOR THANKS RESCUERS

Mayor Stephen A. Grant is seen above recently when he thanked personnel of the Naval Auxiliary Landing Field in Monterey for the part they played in the rescue of Martha E. Jackson on February 2 when she was swept from the Carmel River Beach into the ocean.

Shaking hands with the Mayor is Lieutenant Commander Bernard Villar who was working late in his office when the rescue call came. He got in touch with Captain Robert F. Machado (USMC), next at right, and, behind him, two enlisted men, Airman Robert E. Helton and Petty Officer First Class Lee E. Trew. Machado was at the controls of the rescue helicopter. Helton and Trew were crew members. At left is Captain Mark T. Whittier, officer in charge of the Navy field. Although the helicopter, H-19, pictured above, had been grounded for minor repairs, a decision to attempt the rescue was made.

Bill Hill, a member of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, first reached Mrs. Jackson on a surfboard. He was joined by members of the Pacific Grove Rescue Patrol, also on surfboards. These men took care of Mrs. Jackson until the helicopter arrived, lifted her in a rescue seat and flew her to the beach. She was taken immediately to Community Hospital in the Red Cross ambulance operated by members of the Carmel Fire Department.

NO STORM DAMAGE

"We were lucky," Street Superintendent William L. Askew said this morning in respect to damage from last night's high wind and heavy rain. He reported the only result of the southerly storm was a large limb which fell off a tree at Ocean and Guadalupe. Power was out in a southeast section of the city for a little over half an hour starting at 7 p.m. .....

Kite Festival Two Weeks Away

Two weeks from Saturday, if the weather man cooperates, kites will fly over Middle School athletic field in the Carmel Kite Festival. The annual event, inaugurated in 1930 by the late Reverend Willis White, will be sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club and the recreation department of the Carmel Unified School District.

All commercially made kites are ineligible. Kites must be made by contestants and must be airborne to compete for awards.

There are four competition groupings according to age. They are eight years old and younger; nine to 12 years; 13 to 15 years; and adults, that is anyone over 15 years old. In each classification three prizes will be given, one each for the highest flying kite, the kite with best workmanship and the prettiest kite.

In addition, the Willis White prize, commemmorating the kite festival's founder, will be awarded to the kite judged to have the best international design. The Ernest Calley Perpetual Plaque will be presented to the champion kite. The late Mr. Calley was for many years the shop teacher at Sunset School and taught hundreds of children how to construct kites for the festival which he conducted for many years. All prizes will be donated by the Lions Club.

And as for the Charlie Browns—there are no kite-eating trees on the Middle School field.

Planners Approve Landscaping Plan For Civic Center

Landscaping for the new police station, corporation yard and public works facility site on Junipero between Fourth and Fifth, as presented in a plan prepared by Charles Haugh, landscape architect and land planning consultant, was approved by the planning commission yesterday. Haugh's employment at a cost of $300 was approved by the city council last week.

The Haugh plan emphasizes the use of native, evergreen growth. This will involve Yankee Point ceanothus, coast live oak, Monterey pine and cypress, and Catalina cherry, interspersed with fuchsias, azaleas, climbing fig, rosemary, pyracanthus and xylosma.

A recommendation of the forestry commission that three Monterey pines be planted in a two-foot deep planter in one area until cypresses developed sufficiently to hide a wall was referred to Haugh by the planners. The forestry commission proposed that the pines eventually be removed.

In case commissioners were unfamiliar with some of the proposed shrubs, Wallace Doolittle, nurseryman and a Carmel citizen, had brought examples of this planting to city hall for commissioners to look at.

The planting proposed by Haugh, will be done by the street department.

Youth Center Adult Officers Elected

At the Carmel Youth Center board of directors meeting Wednesday night, last year's officers were reelected for another 12-month term. Robert Shirley will continue as president, Gene Bartlett as vice president and Mike Meheen as secretary-treasurer.

Robert Updike was welcomed as a new board member. Updike is a captain in the Carmel fire department. He was student president of the Youth Center in 1950 and is the second former student member to be welcomed to the board of directors. Secretary-Treasurer Mike Meheen was a member through 1957. Meheen is now a practicing attorney in Monterey.

Other members of the active adult board of directors are Ian Belangee, William Brady, Allman Cook, Tom Duncan, Mrs. R. W. Hicks, James Kelsey, George Mosolf, P. A. McCreery and Stella Newman.
